

Powered by Clickability

Click to Print

SAVE THIS | EMAIL THIS | Close

Under-staffed and working harder

Published: September 24, 2008 6:00 PM

Editor, The News:

The letters about the lack of cleanliness in the new hospital greatly concern those of us who clean it.

Unfortunately, this problem is not due to a lack of work ethic on our part, but a result of our management's tight-fisted budgeting.

All of us are facing workloads twice what we had at MSA and, sadly, the quality of our work must suffer as a result.

Daily, we are short-staffed and have to compensate by working faster.

Not only is this resulting in a degradation in the service we provide, but it is also dangerous. The injury rate at ARHCC is atrociously high.

We are doing our best, and everyone regrets that it's not enough. Ask any of us. We are ashamed to work for Sodexo.

Name withheld

by request

Find this article at:

http://www.bclocalnews.com/fraser_valley/abbynews/opinion/letters/29719154.html

Click to Print

SAVE THIS | EMAIL THIS | Close

Check the box to include the list of links referenced in the article.

© Copyright Black Press. All rights reserved.